“

We needed a flexible webgui for maintaining our custom-built Oracle database that drives our innovative electronic score card, iZeeScore.com. We didn't want to spend time and effort in building the webgui manually.

DataJini webgui, renders all reports and maintenance screens for us without the need for writing a single line of code. This reduced our time to market dramatically and gives us the benefits of easy enhancements of our application. There is no other tool that gives us these unique benefits. DataJini enables us to outperform our competitors.
